GOOD FAITH OF STALIN IS DEMANDED

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

There is one compensation for having a family of several children. Things happen that you never even had a concept of before.

Take for instance the other day.

We came home that evening and found the four-year old covered from head to foot with what looked vaguely like tattoos.

They were on his face, arms, legs, feet, and tummy.

He had a weird assortment of spread eagles, flags, clowns, insignia of various sorts, and what have you.

Being used to the unusual we just casually asked what was up.

Seems that there is some kind of candy you can buy that has the above items in it on sheets of paper. The idea is to moisten whatever part of the body that you want to decorate, and then stick the pieces of paper face down on it. You wait a little while and then pull the paper off. This leaves all that decorated.

The efforts of the four year old apparently had brought fruit, because he was covered.

Fortunately the stuff washes off with soap and water.

We enjoyed reading the National Beauty Salon Week paper yesterday in the Ledger and Times. Murray has some good beauty shops, and it was through their cooperation that we published the two pages yesterday.

It is interesting to women, but we'll bet a lot of men read it too.

Spring is gradually edging its way into the weather picture.

We just can't overlook the fact that buds are beginning to swell and jonquils are beginning to come out, even if the weather is not too good right now.

Best regards to Mr. Vic Jeffrey.

Thanks to the 100 new subscribers who started the Ledger and Times during the past two months.

Dick Tracy got out of that last scrape in pretty good shape. But admit, you may remember one of us just how he would get out of it.

We thought he did pretty well considering the fact that he had a cross tie lying on his back all that time.

Many people were sorry to learn of the death of Bro. Mullins. He was very well known in this area, and generally liked for his good humor and steady work in the church.

It has not been too long since he paid Murray a visit. That visit was a fishing trip he made to Murray with some of the members of his Memphis church. Unfortunately, you may remember one of that party died while here on the trip.

The Murray Boy Scouts are in need of some lineoleum rugs. Dr. Castle Parker is the man to call in case you have one you don't need.

We were almost hit by a pedestrian yesterday. We both applied brakes in time to prevent a collision.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Shelton are observing their 29th wedding anniversary. Congratulations.

Adlai Stevenson may not have any more political aspirations, but he is doing a pretty good job of keeping his name in the paper.

Woodmen Circle Her 4 Dies At Hospital

Woodmen Circle received the death of Dora Alexander Tully, president of the Woodmen Circle, who was here in Murray for a short time.

The deceased lady has been national president of the Woodmen Circle since 1934 and is one of the outstanding business women in America. She is survived by her mother and a sister who live in Omaha, Neb.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the Woodmen Circle hall. Burial will be held Monday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the Woodmen Circle cemetery.

Funeral Of Rev. Mullins To Be Held Tomorrow

The funeral of Rev. T. H. Mullins, who died yesterday morning at 9:30 a.m., will be held tomorrow, Friday, at 2:30 p.m. at the National Funeral Home in Memphis, Tennessee.

Rev. Mullins succumbed from a heart attack. He had one attack last fall and has not been in his pulpit since. He was thought to be improving, however, and was preparing himself to return to his duties when death came.

His death was a shock to his many friends in Murray and Callaway county. Bro. Mullins was pastor of the First Methodist Church in Murray for about six years, and went to Memphis to the Epworth Methodist Church when he left Murray.

A number of Murray people are expected to attend the funeral in Memphis tomorrow.

Eugene Robertson Started His Beef Project In November 1951 And Came Up With A Champ

By EUGENE ROBERTSON
Kirksey FFA Chapter

I started my beef calf project November 1, 1951. I bought four steers and one heifer from the Murray Livestock Company. Like most boys I didn't have $824, the price these calves, so I borrowed the money from The Peoples Bank. One of these calves was selected as Reserve Champion of Callaway County FFA and 4-H Beef Cattle Show.

Since this was my first year to feed calves, I am sure I made a lot of mistakes. It wasn't long after I had my calves until I could tell which one was going to be the best calf. I read and studied many ways of feeding and caring for a calf and tried to do the best

Murray-Middle Tennessee Meet Tonight

By United Press
Fifteen of Kentucky's college teams were concerned in the final whirl of collegiate basketball that started this afternoon with first-round games in the Ohio Valley Conference, KMAC and Kentucky Junior College tournaments in three cities.

Eastern and Western drew byes in the OVC tournament at Louisville and were set to meet the winners of tonight's Murray-Middle Tennessee and Morehead-Tennessee Tech matches, respectively, tomorrow night. The title game is billed for Saturday night.

The Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference tournament at Owensboro has three contests booked tonight. Centre and Georgetown play at 6:30 p.m., followed by the Transylvania-Union game and the nightcap, Kentucky Wesleyan opposite Bellarmine.

Berea, winner of the regular season title, was a co-favorite to win the tourney, along with Wesleyan. The finals will be played Saturday night.

Berea meets the winner of the Centre-Georgetown battle in one of the Friday semi-finals.

All eight teams were scheduled for first-round action in the junior college meet at Tighman High gym in Paducah with Liden Wilson, the conference winner, seeded.

Linden Wilson plays Sue Bennett; Campbellville meets Ashland; Pikeville challenges Paducah; and Cumberland tangles with Lee. The semi-finals will be played tomorrow and the championship will be decided Saturday night.

Barlan Hodges' Murray Thorntons worked out in Louisville yesterday, minus two freshmen stars, Howie Crittenden and Charles "Doodle" Floyd, who were injured and sidelined for the remainder of the season in the Murray-Wichita game, at Wichita, last week.

Murray expected to give Eastern a tough night tomorrow night but, with injuries bothering all of the Murray regulars, the championship game was expected to match Western and Eastern.

I think our chapter has made progress even though we can still improve. The activities of our chapter are planned and started in the form of a "Program of Work." This program is planned by a group of committees with each committee planning a certain phase of the chapters work. This same planning committee serves during the entire year in carrying out the proposals of their committee. We believe we can accomplish more this way than we could in any other way.

Some of the things we have done this year are:

1. All of our chapter officers attended State officers Training School last summer.

2. The chapter paid the expenses of three delegates to State FFA convention in Louisville.

3. Sponsored dairy judging teams at State Fair.

4. Had members enter District Dairy Show in Mayfield.

5. Boys with Beef Projects entered county FFA and 4-H Beef Show.

6. The entire chapter attended FFA Day at Mid-South Fair.

7. Members entered County Hog Show and Sale.

8. Participated in District FFA Day and received Standard Chapter rating.

9. Held Father and Son Banquet.

There were many other activities in individual basis done by our chapter.

I think it's fine that one week each year is set aside as National FFA Week. Rural youth all over the United States has the opportunity of belonging to our National Organization.

Congressmen Cool On Proposal Unless Good Evidence Shown

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (UP)—Congressmen adopted a decidedly cool attitude today toward the idea of a face-to-face conference between President Eisenhower and Russian Premier Josef Stalin.

They didn't want to close any doors if there were the least hope that a meeting would help end the cold war. But they had serious doubts that it would.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday that he would be willing to go half way to meet the Soviet dictator if he were convinced it would further the cause of peace and be consistent with what Americans expect of their president.

The lawmakers, conscious of the unhappy outcome of previous top-level meetings with Stalin, warned the President to demand evidence of good faith.

Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) suggested that one proof would be for the Russians to stop "pulling the strings" in the Korean war.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N. J.) a Foreign Relations Committee member, said he trusted that the President would insist on "adequate safeguards" before agreeing to a meeting.

In the House there also was considerable caution. No one would buy the proposal outright but neither would they rule out the possibility.

Other Congressional developments:

Yalta. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was called before Senate and House committees today. He hoped to quell Congressional demands for outright repudiation of wartime secret agreements with Russia. He faced an open session of the House Foreign Affairs Committee in the morning and a closed session with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in the afternoon.

Education: A House committee investigating Red influences in the nation's schools called Daniel J.

South Pleasant Grove Methodists Enter Program

South Pleasant Grove Methodist Church of Calloway county has enrolled in the first annual Town and Country Church Development Program sponsored by Emory University. It was announced this week by the pastor, Rev. H. P. Blankenship.

This is one of over 700 churches from 36 denominations which have enrolled in this program, designed to stimulate interest and promote growth among rural churches in 13 southern states.

Mr. R. L. Cooper is in charge of the program at South Pleasant Grove Church. Others on his committee include James W. Erwin, Raymond Story, Julius Cooper, Harold Broach and Mildred James. This church will compete with other churches in the state, located in communities of under 5,000 population, for the award as the Rural Church of the Year in the state. The state winner will receive $500 and the next four $100 each. The Rural Church of the Year in the South will be selected from among the 13 state winners to receive an additional $500.

The awards will be announced at Emory University's Town and Country School in July, according to Dr. Earl Brewer, director of the Development Program and a member of Emory's faculty. The Sears-Roebuck Foundation is co-operating with Emory in the Program.

HAWAII ALERTED FOR TIDAL WAVE

HONOLULU, T. H. Feb. 26.—(UP)—Hawaii was alerted for a possible tidal wave today after a severe earthquake was recorded at 1:40 a.m. HST, 6:40 a.m. EST in vicinity of the Santa Cruz Islands 3,000 miles southwest of here.

Coast and Geodetic Survey seismographs recorded the quake and observers said a tidal wave was possible although it probably would not be strong.

Boorslin, an associate professor of history at Chicago University, to testify on charges that he once was a member of the Communist party.

Budget: Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) said President Eisenhower's attempt to balance the budget this year is a lost cause. The former chairman of the House Appropriations Committee suggested that a proposed $10,000,000,000 "cut in spending cannot be made without tampering with national security."

The Senate approved two measures to strengthen existing laws banning shipment and mailing of obscene matter. Twenty-four senators introduced a resolution proposing an equal rights for women amendment. And the House and Senate passed bills authorizing the Federal Housing Administration to insure an additional $500,000,000 in housing improvement loans by private lending institutions.

Red Cross

Campaign To Open March 2

M. C. Ellis 1953 Red Cross Fund Campaign Chairman for the city will open the drive with a kick off breakfast, Monday morning March 2, 6:30 at the National Hotel.

Of this 93 million dollars, Calloway county has been asked to raise $5,507.00. Mr. Ellis is confident with the usual cooperation on the part of the solicitors and all people of Murray and Calloway county, we will more than meet the assigned goal.

The following solicitors are expected to attend the kick off breakfast and come prepared to enroll as a member of the Red Cross organization for 1953.

All present will leave wearing a Red Cross button and with supplies, ready to start solicitations immediately.

The slogan for the Fund Campaign is "Answer the Call."

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—Manager Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cardinals, borrowing a plane from Branch Rickey, plans to try his players out as managers during intra-squad games this spring. Stanky said the first game would be held next Sunday and revealed that St. Louis manager Leo Durocher had left behind Al Bralier, the newly acquired pitcher on the staff who hadn't advanced enough to pitch in the big league.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UP)—

Pitcher Clem Labine drew the first "rave notice" of the Brooklyn Dodgers training camp Wednesday as a result of spacing out his over three innings of an intra-squad game.

Manager Charley Dressen said Labine, a "big-league star" in 1951, looked "better than at any time last year." Labine posted an 8-4 record in 1952 but did not pitch a complete game and was one of the major disappointments of the Brooklyn staff.

Inez And Hindman Making Strong Bids For Top Spots

LEXINGTON, (UP)—With only one more week to go, Inez and Hindman today were making strong bids for high places in the weekly United Press - Disabled Veterans ratings of Kentucky high school basketball teams.

Both made notable advances in this week's ratings. Inez moving up from fourth to third place ahead of Louisville Male; and Hindman climbing from seventh to fifth spot.

Ashland retained the ranking as the state's top schoolboy team, an honor it has held since mid-January. The Tomcats polled nine first-place votes of a possible 19 and a total of 173 points.

In second place once more was Louisville Flagg, with two first-place votes and 127 points. Inez, with three first-place votes and 109 points, took over third spot from Male, which had two first-place ballots and 107 points.

Hindman moved into fifth with one first-place ballot and 91 points, while Caverna held sixth with one first-place mention and 85 points. That shoved Lexington Lafayette, once the number one team, from fifth place down to seventh, with 74 points. Lexington Henry Clay with 56 points, undefeated Clay County with 56, and Clark County with 38 rounded out the Top Ten just as they did last week.

Today's Sports Parade

NEW YORK, (UP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers are under orders today to get back into character. The team which became a national institution because of its daffiness and weird escapades has, in the last couple of years, gone soberly respectable.

President Walter O'Malley insists they must quit playing it straight and go back to the spangles. "This is Brooklyn," grunts the O'Malley. "For years that's what our fans have come to see and expect. So let it be known now, we're back to the spangles."

The Dodgers' new look is a far cry from the first time that Brooklyn baseball was first brought to the city.

Next week's ratings will be final for the season, since tournament play starts after this weekend's games.

Ray Morrison Wraps Up Forty Years Of Football Coaching

DALLAS, Tex. Feb. 26 (UP)—Ray Morrison, a small, grayish man who never did look like a football coach, has just wrapped up a 40-year coaching career in football.

But he's happy in his "retirement," because he's doing what he liked to do all those years he was turning out winning football teams at Southern Methodist, Vanderbilt and Temple University.

A man who has seen the tides of football fortune ebb and flow around him, Morrison has returned to Southern Methodist to work under one of his prize-grid pupils, a vigorous preacher-educator who was once a raging terror in one of Morrison's lines at SMU.

The pupil is Dr. Willis Tate, who now is vice president of SMU in charge of public relations and development. And Morrison is Tate's assistant.

"The little man with the efficient, smile will specialize in alumni relations, which means that he will beat the bushes taking up Southern Methodist to alumni groups."

He has no connection with the athletic department, but no one doubts that he'll keep wary eyes and ears open for football material as he traverses the Southwest.

Morrison actually started "retiring" four years ago, when he moved from Temple to comparative "small-time" Austin College at Sherman, Tex., as athletic director and head coach. At that time, he said he wanted to come back to Texas and the Austin job offered him "that chance."

"I've always wanted to come back to SMU, where I was about the third person on the campus back in 1915 when the school was founded," he said. "I picked out the site for the first football field that year."

He said the fact that "it was time for me to retire" and the appearance of the opening in Dr. Tate's office had him to quit at Austin College.

Morrison was a star back at SMU, where he coached for a couple of years before coming to SMU in 1915. He left SMU for World War I but came back and took over as head coach in 1922.

In less than 10 years, he tutored three unbeaten teams and fostered the razzle-dazzle type of play for which the Southwest became famous as SMU branched out into big intersectional schedules.

He left SMU Mally Bell hands in 1934 to return to his alma mater and was lured to Temple in 1940, staying at the Philadelphia school until 1949 when he returned to SMU.

But the sprightly Morrison would have none of it. "If I'd wanted to stay in big time coaching, I could have gone to Yale when I left Temple," he said. "I'm content to sit here on the sidelines now."

the Edge Star State.
—Maurice of Morrison-coached SMU teams still abound at SMU and earlier this month when the school was searching for a new coach to "replace Rusty Russell," many an old-timer insisted that Morrison and Bell again team up.

But the sprightly Morrison would have none of it. "If I'd wanted to stay in big time coaching, I could have gone to Yale when I left Temple," he said. "I'm content to sit here on the sidelines now."

Aging Pope Pius Begins Shifting Duties To Others

Pius XII, 76-years-old and recovering from a severe attack of influenza, is beginning to turn over to his aides some of the duties of the Vatican secretariat of state, diplomats believed today.

The Pope has acted as his own Secretary of State, in effect, since the death of Luigi Cardinal Magliani in 1944.

He has been assisted by Monsignor Giovanni Battista Montini as "secretary for ordinary affairs" and Domenico Tardini as "secretary for the congregation of extraordinary affairs."

When the Pope named 24 new Cardinals last November he also announced that he had named Montini and Tardini as pro-secretaries of state, with equal rank.

The pontiff disclosed during the Jan. 12-15 consistory he had planned to make both Montini and Tardini Cardinals but they preferred not to be elevated.

"These prelates requested us so insistently to allow them to decline this very high honor," the Pope said, "that we thought it fitting to hear their oft-expressed wishes and repeated petitions."

"But in doing so we have nevertheless wished to honor their virtue with some mark of recognition, and therefore, as you know, we have promoted them to a higher rank of honor which will better and more fully bear testimony to their field of intense activity."

Jared Maddux and House Speaker James B. Conner in naming members of the committee to study legislative procedures although no Republicans were appointed.

As a result, it probably is the only legislative committee in many years at least where the minority Democratic faction controls the group. If it comes down to a strictly partisan basis, past supporters of Gov. Gordon Browning could outvote backers of Gov. Frank Clement three to two.

The three House members are Rep. Tom Johnson, Manchester, Browning's House floor leader two years ago, as House chairman; Rep. McAllen, Foutch, Smithville, House speaker for two terms during Browning's administration; and Rep. Hoyt Bryson, Woodbury, Clement's House floor leader now. On the Senate side there are Sen. Robert Acklen, Memphis, a Clement backer; and Sen. Ben Kerr, Murfreesboro, a Browning floor leader in the Senate in 1951.

PLAYERS FAIL TO SHOW
BRADENTON, Fla. (UP)—The Boston Braves officially listed pitchers Vern Bickford, Lew Burdette, Max Surkont and Don Liddle as holdouts Wednesday when they failed to show up at the team's opening workout.

Seven other Braves are unsigned but they are not due to report until next Sunday.

Cow Nails Lid On Her Coffin

BOLTON, Conn. (UP)—Mollie the cow nailed down her own coffin lid, the sad owner lamented today.

Last week, Mollie's owner, Frank Paggioli, noticed she wasn't eating so well. She seemed to be in pain. He called the veterinarian. Dr. Harry Sherman took a mine detector and started probing. After confirming his suspicion there was metal in the cow's stomach, Sherman operated. He called it a rumenotomy, something not too common as far as operations go.

Sherman extracted a nail from one of Mollie's four stomachs. But she continued to show signs of being uncomfortable.

Paggioli decided Mollie would have to be butchered.

At the slaughterhouse, another nail was found. The veterinarian said he couldn't have saved her anyway because the second nail had pierced the stomach in a bad place.

HUNT BROTHER IN COED'S KILLING

THE SNOWY Allegheny mountains are being searched for Jean Christoff, former engineering student at Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh, for questioning in strangulation of his sister, Jean Elaine, who returned to the Christoff home near Frugality, Pa., only three weeks before.

According to her father she was "emotionally upset." Jean was last seen heading into a wooded area of Cambria county carrying a high-powered rifle with a telescopic sight. (International)

Mrs. Sudhoff, who was former teacher of piano at the William Woods College and the College Preparatory School, joined forces with Miss Loftus of the faculty of Our Lady of Cincinnati College in the presentation of Faure's fascinating work for two pianos, entitled "Opus 36," which is recently introduced by the eminent pianists, Gaby and Robert and by the article stated.

Stills And Whiskey Are Confiscated

PANUCAH, Feb. 26 (UP)—Federal and State revenue agents have destroyed four moonshine stills and confiscated 35 gallons of whiskey and made two arrests in Western Kentucky during the past few days.

Arrested were Eugene Underhill, 33, and William Howard Downs, 20, both of Trigg county.

Stills destroyed had a total capacity of 500 gallons, Dewey Harrison, federal alcohol tax unit investigator, said.

Moonshiners in the Golden Pond area of Trigg County apparently recognized the raiders, for a metal can had the names of Harrison, John Bays and "Big Moose" written on its side.

Russian Planes Taking Pictures Of U. S. Airfields

TOKYO, Feb. 26 (UP)—Former Japanese Premier Hiroshi Ashida said today that Russian planes have flown over the Tokyo area taking pictures of United States airfields, the Nippon Times reported.

Ashida, leader of the Progressive Party, said the intruders were spotted by U. S. radar networks, but that Allied warplanes were unable to make contact with them.

He would not divulge the source of his information, the Times said. A spokesman for the Far East Air Force denied that such flights by Russian planes have occurred.

"The Japan air defense is aware of all aircraft flying over or in the vicinity of Japan," he said. "It has been adequately alerted in every instance of illegal over-flight by foreign aircraft. All such intrusions have occurred over or in the vicinity of Hokkaido Japan's northernmost island."

Ashida, who the Times said has "close contact" with American authorities, also said the Russians believe only five atom bombs would be needed to cripple Japan.

Ashida made his statements in calling for rearmament of Japan, one of the strongest planks in his party's platform.

There have been numerous reports in the past year of foreign planes, believed to be Russian, flying over Hokkaido from Soviet-held islands. There have been no previous indications that the intruders flew as far south as Tokyo. Earlier this month, Allied F-84 Thunderjets pursued and damaged one of two Russian type propeller driven fighters spotted over Hokkaido.

MOTHER OF QUADS TELLS DOCTORS 'THAT'S ENOUGH'

HELSINKI, Finland, Feb. 26 (UP)—Mrs. Heivi Leskinen, who gave birth to quadruplets Wednesday said today her conversation with the doctor was more unusual than the delivery.

"When the first baby, a girl, arrived, I told him, 'She wants company. There will be another one,'" she said. "We expected twins."

A moment later the second girl arrived.

"It could just as well have been a boy, for I already have three daughters," I said.

The next moment the first boy came. The doctor was somewhat startled. "He should have a pal," I said.

"And then the second boy arrived. That's enough now," I told the doctor. He and the nurses were pretty busy."

Business Man Writes Hit Songs

Philadelphia (UP)—A man of many talents is Stuart F. Louchheim, successful Philadelphia businessman who wrote the hit song "Mixed Emotions."

Louchheim, who directed production of multiple-barreled firing controls for rocket guns during World War II, has just recorded another song which is termed a "best bet" by Variety—"You're After My Own Heart."

Louchheim, whose firm now is the cello—he's a longhair. The businessman, an ardent reader of the Bible, says the title of his latest song came from that source and occurred to him while on a golfing trip at Pinehurst, N. C. He thought of the phrase from the Acts of the Apostles, visualized a song and wrote the words and lyrics to it in less than two hours.

The Reluctant Cinderella

by JENNIFER AMES

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN
CAROL was enchanted with the apartment. It consisted of one big studio room with a tiled bathroom and a completely electric kitchenette. There was a small porch with a striped awning that faced the sea. "Where you can eat your breakfast in the sunshine," Helen said.

Carol had a fleeting mental glimpse of her own flat in London—the long, dingy staircase, the inadequate kitchen, and herself and Mrs. Pomkins crouching together before the gas fire while they breakfasted. I wish Mrs. Pomkins were here too, she thought with a feeling of nostalgia.

They took her out to dinner, but she was almost too tired to eat. She was glad to get back to the apartment and fall into bed. She wondered fleetingly as she fell asleep how Jason was faring in his Greyhound bus.

Wouldn't he keep up the pretense of being in love with her down here? It mightn't be necessary. Why had Julie engaged him? Was there truth in what Thelma had told her on the boat, that there had been something between him and Julie?

She moved restlessly and pounded the pillow with her clenched fist, as though she found it hard. Betty Ann had intimated Derek was attracted to her, begged her to make a play for him. He was nice. A husband any girl would be proud of. And what a feather in her cap, to land the heir to the huge store of Appleton's. Like Cinderella catching the Prince, she thought. And then she remembered what Jason had called her, and she laughed. Cinderella, a reluctant Cinderella, he had said.

Carol spent all morning at the store on North Avenue helping unpack the merchandise, checking and tabbing the various items hanging the gowns in the glass-fronted closets or folding them away in drawers. She met the other members of the staff—nice, friendly girls, dressed in linen or shantung sports dresses. They wore no stockings and their legs were tanned, like their arms and faces, a golden brown. A number of them, she gathered, worked only for the season; their summers they spent on the beaches. What a life! Carol thought wistfully of her own full working year with a bare two weeks' holiday.

Towards noon she was bending over one of the tables, arranging some attractive tailored shorts with matching brass when a hand caught hold of her arm and a woman's voice cried, "Carol, Carol Marston! This is swell!—She's swinging round and there was Julie Moore of Model Huts, the girl who had won the Award two years ago, but they had never been intimate. She had half-wondered if Julie, now that she had married a man with so much money, would want to know her."

"Jason wrote from New York that you were on your way down. I couldn't wait to see you. Can you come out with me to lunch? I have a cabage at the Lido. We can lunch there, swim and sun-bathe."

"It sounds wonderful, but I have work to do."

Julie poured attractively. "Surely they're not going to work you to death your first day here?"

Helen Winston, who had been hovering in the background, now with Mrs. Gallet. Carol "Take the whole afternoon off. You'll enjoy it." She added, her voice tinged with respect, "Mrs. Gallet is one of our best customers."

Julie said, "Thank you, Miss Winston." But she grinned impudently at Carol as much as to say, "Money talks, my dear."

"Got a swim suit with you, Carol?" she said aloud.

"I could go back to the apartment and collect one."

Julie laughed. "I bet it's woolen, the sort of costume we wear on English beaches to keep warm."

She turned to Helen. "I know you're not officially open yet, but please let Carol choose a play-suit and a swim suit and one of those new pyramid wraps. They're so fashionable, though they do make only for the season; their summers they spent on the beaches. What a life! Carol thought wistfully of her own full working year with a bare two weeks' holiday.

FROSTY MORN HAM

*Hickory Smoked?
Yes Mam, that's Frosty Morn Ham!*

Ever wonder why each Frosty Morn Ham has that real old fashioned ham flavor? That's because each Frosty Morn Ham is carefully slow cured the old fashioned way. We begin with grain-fed pork for flavor. We carefully hand rub each ham for uniformity, slow cure it by a rigid time table, then smoke it long and lovingly over slow hickory fires. It takes time to cure a Frosty Morn Ham this way. But it is the only way to get that wonderful old-time ham flavor you like so much in a Frosty Morn Ham. There's just nothing to compare to the real old fashioned ham flavor of a Frosty Morn Ham.
